COVID-19, a virus that has caused worldwide panic, recently has been declared a pandemic. Several countries have been put their population in lockdown in order to contain the spread of the virus. This measure is to keep the virus at bay until an effective cure is developed. So people have to spend their time staying inside their home, practicing social distancing.

As for me on a personal level, it wasn't much of a drastic change for me but just enough since I've made just a few friends and we, like always do much of the communication over internet or calls other than college. We do conference calls and video chats every now and then, most of the time talking about trivial topics and health status and having fun banter.

Since everyone is in the same boat, facing the pandemic and lockdown, people are practicing their own way of dealing with it at home to offset the boredom and anxiety. In my case, I've also started picking up hobbies that I left due to a few circumstances. To cope with boredom, I started playing an online game which I used to play again. I made quite a few friends there, most of them belong from the west. It's fun talking with them. I've taken this situation in a positive manner, working on myself, learning a new language which I had planned to give the proficiency test for, which is JLPT N5. I'm also giving IELTS later this year. So quarantine has given me plenty of time to work on my skills without any pressure of time constraints. Other than that another one of my hobbies is reading novels, I'm an avid reader. Psychological thrillers being my go-to genre, I picked up 'The Silent Patient' by Alex Michaelides which I had put off for a while, it is quite a good read to fulfil a niche. There are variety of eBooks available on amazon to read some great stories to serve as a pastime for spending the lockdown. That is what sums up my method of dealing with this situation.

Being a hostelite, living far away from home for studying, it was a really great moment to see my family again after returning back home. Being in the care of your parents, doing household chores, eating mom's home-made food, though it may sound trivial to many, really is the best feeling than any other. As much as there are happy moments, the sad parts are also the side of the same coin. The saddest part was that, my dad who works abroad, couldn't return as the flights have been cancelled. We do video calls every day and I'm glad that he's alright and is doing fine.

But still, there is always a lingering worry for dad's health. As for the social problems, it's sad that there's a news article everyday regarding people violating the lockdown and causing mishap and vandalisms. The worst thing is, along with that, doctors and health workers and essential service givers are being abused by the mobs for various nonsensical reasons and fake news. It pains my heart to see the people on the frontline suffering from hostile intent. The government is taking initiative to deal with the problem and making laws that can stand such people punished.

The darker part of the lockdown, the economy, which had suffered quite a bit ever since covid-19 came to the world's attention. Indian economy is bleeding; important liquidities are crashing as the mass panic plagues. While there is an everlasting shortage of medical equipment and PPEs and many other essentials shows that we weren't ready for the pandemic. But that is happening all over the world which makes sense, it all goes to say that we are all in this together. Since I'm studying for a degree to make a career in the hospitality industry, I'm concerned for the future of it. As the hospitality industry was one of the first ones to bear the brunt of the first wave of the virus's effect, I can only hope for it to be a temporary damage. Being an optimistic person, I can see that the industry will thrive after the pandemic ensues as people will be more than willing to travel to different places since they were stuck in their home for such a long time, they will be more persistent to want delicious food with good hygiene caused by the after-effect of the crisis, which the restaurants are generally expected to. It's not wrong to think that after this crisis, the hospitality industry will come out with even better innovations learnt from the sudden turn of events that is sure to help the industry move forward. "One step back and Three steps forward" would be enough to encapsulate the situation the hospitality industry is in.

With that said I'm sure we all have taken something out of the crisis that everyone is collectively facing. No matter how we have spent our time in lockdown, good or bad, if we come out healthy, then that's all matters to it.

The Quarantine 2020

It originated from a country which had the biggest human work force. No doubt, COVID 19, corona virus hit the world affecting lakhs of lives and spreading a melancholic war in few months. It is devastating in every way. Amidst these crises, as the universities also had a halt, the students rejoiced! However, a great amount of disappointment followed. There are survival crises all around. We stay safe at home but watch the world through the digital eyes. This time of quarantine has a lot to teach. Every one of us is staying inside with few of our parents who are doctors, police and nurses fight the virus fully armed. We have our greatest gratitude towards all of them who are fighting out there and to the people who are staying inside and following the safety standards.

It is a human tendency to get lethargic and delusional at such times of pandemic while facing its consequences. However, there are some who have really utilized their time and brought out something marvelous out of them. Herein begins the journey of realizations. To be honest, this time for me has been extremely contemplating. At a side the lives are threatened and at another the earth is rejuvenating, as if repairing its wounds. A beautiful paradox is what I see when I peep out of the window. Although boring, the dawns have become a bit cozier if you have noticed, the afternoons are bit bearable as you rest over the couch and watch television, when the dusk hits, the window becomes a screen and you can see lights in the rooms of other buildings in front yours, glistening with the same feelings as yours. If you observe, even the simplest and smallest things become soulful. All the families are together, all the spats and disagreements are now bubbling inside the four walls but at the same time they are fizzing out, settling down and becoming sweeter as the time passes. Friendships and relationships are growing stronger, finally understanding what a distance has to teach. I have been terribly missing my college days and every tiny memory has hit all of us with love and gratitude. As the lyrics of a song “let her go” by Passenger states, “When you only need the light when its burning low, Only miss the sun when it starts to snow” says it all.

The times are hard but we are hopeful and hope has always been stronger than fear. If we see this as an opportunity to jump into new experiences, we discover life. We always find a purpose to swim through and then we are unstoppable.

Nevertheless, finding this purpose isn't easy even when you have all the things right in front of your eyes. There are people who cannot come out of their thoughts and quarantine gets you stuck to overthinking. Some of us experience this depression and it is okay to feel a certain way which is not comprehensible by others. This is a gift of great pause. A "halt" to the game of life and so we can have some time for self-growth.

What we need to do is, to breathe first. I feel grateful that we still have our families together, healthy food on our tables every day, good internet connections of course! Lockdown has already made some of us good cooks, vloggers, bloggers, some have started watching great movies and series, some have started reading, some have their career plans been crafted out, some have great sketching skills, some dance their heart out and some ink it out; if nothing we all are helping our parents doing the daily chores and we all love good music! It is not so bad after all as you see!

As far as our career is concerned, like others we might face the loss yet, not for long. By the time, we can keep ourselves motivated towards our goals. We are the hospitality students after all, the world needs people who make it smile, bloom and feel at home and we are ready to do that always! No matter what crises, we stand still and our empathy leads. My biggest gratitude to the hospitality and travel industry, the healers!

There couldn't be anything better. Let us take this as a new beginning. Let us thrive and let our earth heal so that we learn to take good care of it. Let us eradicate the dividing differences of politics, caste, religion, status and anything that threatens humanity in times of global adversity because the youth is aware of the truth, that despite of diversity we all are united. Thank you.

The impact of Covid-19

It has been months since the first case of covid-19 was discovered in the city of Wuhan, China. Since then the whole world has been suffering from this pandemic. This is history in the making as most of the world has gone under lockdown. Covid-19 has had many negative impacts on the society for example the economy has come crashing down and hundreds of thousands of people have lost their lives. I cannot ignore the fact that the world as a whole has started to heal during this process. For me personally, Covid-19 and it's following lockdowns have made me realize that all we need to stay alive is some clean water and food for consumption, and the materialistic things have lost their meaning. No cars or bikes are helping us survive but our own intellect is. Although lockdowns were a little destructive at the start because I was not used to being cooped up at home but after a few days it made me wonder that we can spend time with our family and we aren't disturbed by their presence. My eyes started sparkling when I saw people ringing bells and lighting diyas from their balconies, who knew that all we needed for being a great community was a pandemic. It's very surprising to see that the news lately hasn't been about wars, riots or senseless debates but only the novel virus. It's almost as if people have stopped caring about their differences and have come together to fight this obstacle. I couldn't help but shed a tear when I saw that everyone was together for that moment, everywhere I looked were smiling faces and flickering lights and to know that this will only happen once in our lifetime, it was nothing but mesmerizing.

The experience of lockdown has been a rollercoaster ride for most of us I believe. But, even after so many days the hope that we will get through this together makes me braver than ever. Sitting at home and having nothing to do gives us a lot of time to recollect and reflect on ourselves and as much as it's difficult, I have to give it credit because it has given us a chance to realize what's more important in our life, and also made us accept that only through unity we can overcome disparity. While we are stuck in our homes the frontline workers, the cleaning staff, the nurses, the media, and most importantly the doctors are working tirelessly. But even after doing so much so many of them got infected with the virus, got abused, beaten up, and that breaks my heart the most. During such times they are our only hope. I hope we can repay them for their help.

During the lockdown, a productive thing that I did was to read a book by Dale Carnegie. The book's title is "How to win friends and influence people". It is filled with different examples showing us what and how to make others do their job and what is needed in a person to influence people. One of the sentences stated that "the desire to be important" is what makes most people do their job, that sentence in a simplified form is that people do their job correctly when they are appreciated. Likewise I don't know if we will be able to repay the doctors for their help but what we can do to encourage them is to appreciate them and their work. In conclusion the novel virus Covid-19 has made me realize that the real problem to this planet is humans and not the virus itself. I am hoping that after this virus is eradicated from the face of earth, the people understand and treat it with respect. As it comes to the hospitality industry, the standards of hygiene will increase even more immensely and the industry will again start to serve the guests no matter what comes in between.

As the saying goes "guest is God" the industry will leave no blank spaces to serve the god and although it will become a lot more complex it will overcome the obstacles as it has always done so. Stay safe and stay at home. Thank you!

IMPACT OF COVID-19

Today we are in a very big crisis. This crisis is covid 19 (corona virus 19). Due to this virus we are all trapped in our own homes. The whole world has stopped. It began in December 2019 in Wuhan, China. No one ever imagined a time when people would be afraid to meet each other. Each person has a face mask on their nose. People needed to lock themselves in the house. Symptoms of the virus are similar to those of a common fever, such as cold and cough. But this may not have led to the early diagnosis of the disease, and the disease continued to spread. People continued to cooperate with each other, and the number of patients continued to grow. And the symptoms of the disease also appear fourteen days later. Which means that if we visit a corona patient today, we will not even know about the next fourteen days. And some of these patients traveled from China to different parts of the world. By the beginning of January and the city of Wuhan had grown to thousands of patients, the government also made some wise decisions, so that there were no longer any patients.

But now the disease has spread to 213 countries around the world, making it very difficult to control. America, Italy are also among them. About two thousand new patients are being reported every 24 hours. There are millions of patients but the death toll is in the thousands.

And if you think of your country as India, you have a preconceived idea of how the disease is spreading. The Prime Minister of our country learned some of the mistakes that other countries have made. At the same time that coronary patients came to India, they made the right plans. Every person was examined at the airport. But that was not enough.

On 22 March 2020, India observed a 14-hour public curfew at the instance of the prime minister Narendra Modi. The government followed it up with lockdowns in 75 districts where COVID cases had occurred as well as all major cities. Further, on 24 March, the prime minister ordered a nationwide lockdown for 21 days, affecting the entire 1.3 billion population of India. On 14 April, the prime minister extended the ongoing nationwide lockdown till 3 May.

And during March, I was away from home in Khopoli for my industrial training. And seeing the proliferation of these businesses, our college demanded immediate halt to the hotel. This was a decision taken by the teachers to avoid any kind of crisis on the students. But there was no other solution. I resigned in the hotel on March 21, and returned home to Mumbai. And the same day the lockdown was announced. And the only essential service was the services like food shop, clinic.

This is the first time since I know that Mumbai Local Rail Service was also stopped for such a long time. Seeing that I was feeling a little sad, but there were some things that seemed good to hear.

On April 5, the Prime Minister had appealed to every Indian that everyone should light a lamp in his house. And everyone in the dark supported them. And all of this shows the unity of our country and it is truly a matter of pride for all of us. They also asked every doctor, nurse, policeman, everyone who is fighting for Corona to stand in the door of the house and thanked the crowd and people responded very well.

But there were some people who even ran out on the street to shout for fun.

This lockdown had begun, but it didn't stop people from coming out of the house. With the thought of how long it would be closed, people crowded into the grocery store to stock up on food at home. And this caused a grain shortage in the shops too. the shop owners raised the prices of the grains and the customers had no choice but to buy them. But some people added to the crisis. Police were beaten in some places, and doctors were also beaten in some places. These people may not even have thought about their family members. They stay away from their parents and their children day and night to protect us.

Only 25% of India's coronary patients are in Maharashtra. Dharavi, one of the largest slums in Asia, is a hotspots place in Mumbai. Because of the slum, the size of the houses is small so the social distance cannot be maintained.

Some workers from northern India who came to Mumbai for work were coming on the road to go back to their homes for fear of illness and some were caught while passing through a milk supply vehicle. And it was during this time that some people from the Tbiligi tribe organized a public prayer program in Delhi and people from all corners of the country participated in it. These thousands of people had returned to their homes before the lockdown began. After examining all of them, many of them turned out to be coronary patients. And because of these people, the coronary virus started to spread rapidly in our country. And the news is similar to a major virus these days, because we are always hearing news about this corona virus at home and many rumors are coming out of it. Fear of such things is causing the elderly people in the house to have a heart disorder.

Earlier, the countless beggars who use to survive on charity of people who comes to buy essentials at market, people use to dole out spare change or any food to beggars and their children outside every temples, mosques and churches. Most of mob begging were psychotic, disabled, blind. These are suffering a lot; they are getting worse. This includes daily wage earners and people with hand-to-mouth income. Because they were accustomed to get money in one place. The initial days didn't seem to be hard, but now many of them go without meals more often. These lockdown days are going to be tougher, especially for the mentally handicapped. Because, before this they use to get food and money from the charity of people.

At present, the municipality of Mumbai has started shelter centers in schools and has started the task of providing food to such needy people. So now these people are getting some relief.

But in fact, all of this has been reduced to a very large amount of air pollution which has reduced the air pollution in large quantities. In many places the free movement of silent animals is being seen as the movement of human beings decreases. At the same time, sales of harmful substances like alcohol, tobacco, and cigarettes are being stopped all over the country which has made people in many homes free of addiction.

There are so many things people have gotten into this lockdown. That is how people got this time for their family. Everyone has been together with their people for a long time from their daily lives.

In fact, I am now playing indoor games with my family like ludo, snake ladder, carom. Chatting around the world but not mobile chat, sitting in front of each other. There is a lot to learn during this time. I'm always doing something new creative at home. Things like Google, YouTube have been very helpful at this time.

Many have helped their country in this crisis. An entrepreneur like Ratan Tata arranged a free meal for employees at every hospital in Mumbai, through his Taj Hotel. While some helped the government financially. Also, some celebrity told people to stay safe at home through social media.

The consequences of this lockdown have seen a huge impact on the country's economy.

Many business owners are cutting their workers' salaries and removing them from work. The scarcity of money has created concern for new entrepreneurs.

Coronavirus has disrupted the demand and supply chain across the country and with this disruption, it can be seen that the tourism, hospitality, and aviation sectors are among the worst affected sectors that are facing the maximum impact of the current crisis.

Closing of cinema theatres and declining footfall in shopping complexes has affected the retail sector by impacting the consumption of both essential and discretionary items. As the consumption of any product or services goes down, it leads to an impact on the workforce. In the current scenario, with all the retailers closing down their services, the jobs of the employees are at a huge risk.

The travel, tourism and hospitality sector has been hit hard since the corona virus outbreak, spread across the world in early march. In India, occupancy levels at hotels are close to zero due the nationwide lockdown. The virus is hitting organizations hard from all over the world. They face a complicated year ahead. it will take up to 10 months for the sector to return to its normal levels. there is an opportunity for the industry to come together to subside public panic and help each other to recover.

During the time of this lockdown, we must express our gratitude to everyone. Many thanks to all the police personnel, doctors, and Who put their lives to the fight with Corona

IMPACT OF COVID-19

Pretty soon, as the country begins to figure out how we “open up again” and move forward and get back to normal again, normal or the new abnormal normal?

We desperately want to feel good again, get back to the routines of life, to not lie in bed at night wondering how we are going to afford our rent and bills, to not wake up to an endless scroll of human tragedy on our phones, to have a cup of perfectly made adrak wali chai and simply leave the house for work. However what the trauma has shown us, though, cannot be unseen. In a quiet India (Bharat) you can hear birds chirp in the middle of the chaotic Mumbai or the horns of Delhi traffic, the flamingos taking rounds and the dolphins can be seen from a faraway taking a peaceful dive.

Little did anyone imagine in their wildest dreams one day the whole planet will wake up to a silent world hit by a pandemic named covid 19 (coronavirus). Faced with this unprecedented challenge, everyone is fighting against it physically, mentally and monetarily. A nationwide lockdown has been enforced to tackle the spread of coronavirus however each and every one is petrified with the thought of what the future beholds!? However every situation has two sides to it. With our very busy lives we have had never got enough time to spend with our family or learn things which were in our to-do list, amidst this lockdown people are seen bonding with families, doing household chores together, spending time with their children, catching up with relatives next door and long distance worldwide over video calls, having fun with fun games organised on whatsapp. It's the time where people are learning new skills, attending online workshops which they could not do otherwise. Every day we are flooded with negative news about the coronavirus, which is understandable in the times of crisis. But while we are probably all aware of the negative effects of the coronavirus, it has a rather unexpected side effect: a positive impact on the environment. There is a decline in consumption as most people work from home we use less plastic, print less and shop less all these aspects contribute in a positive way to the environment.

Looking at the other side, people are stranded in countries away from their families painfully aware of the time ticking past and money running out. The economy is seen drowning, if it prolongs for a long time people are unsure of what can be done. There is not a single human being who is not feeling some degree of stress and anxiety, there is a question of degree and a question of vulnerability to it. There is a toll on mental health of individuals at different levels because of probabilities of economic slowdown, potential job losses, financial burden, and uncertainty about future possibilities.

Personally I am having fairly a good time during this lockdown along with family which otherwise I don't get time for because of studies, college, submissions. I have been catching up with long distance cousins after ages. I have been developing my cooking skills, trying my hands with something new every day with the limited resources available, helping my mom extensively with the household chores like cleaning, washing dishes etc. etc. Doesn't this become a perfect and practical lesson for self-management? Reading books has become a nice pass time and also it will help me with my communication. Not just doing chores but I have started learning and appreciating the little things in our life, I suddenly have a lot of time to think, we are faced with the fact that we all buy too much, living is inexpensive what makes it expensive is luxury, I/We all have started making conscious choices when it comes to nutrition and exercise, have started adjusting out living patterns and working methods, art and creativity has suddenly become so important and how it contributes in balancing our mental wellbeing. I have my brothers who are stranded in two different countries; this is something which makes me really worry. As any individual would get worried questions like how is it going to be? How are we going to tackle it? How long is this going to continue? When will the colleges start and what if takes long? How are we going to cope with financial burden? All these questions pass through my mind too. Along with taking a toll on mental wellbeing of everyone it's taking a toll on Indian economy as well. It is going to impact Indian economy to a larger extent. The dependence of India on china is huge in terms of India – Cloth, textiles, furniture, electronics, organic chemicals and more. The GDP has been declining significantly.

However the government are working on to suggest measures which can bring back economy on track post lockdown. Various relief and welfare measures shall also be laid down for various sectors of the economy as well as for the poor and needy. The Gov.has made every possible effort help poor, daily wage workers and farmers.Reports suggests India is going to face worse hit than 2009 recession. The president of India, vice-president and state governors have voluntarily decided to take a pay cut as a gesture towards concerned efforts to contain the pandemic. On the price scenario, showdown in demand and production activities, s sharp fall in the global price of crude oil, and prices decrease in other major commodities such as energy, base metals and fertilisers among others are expected to put a pressure on inflation. We may go 21 years behind but the least that can be done right now is pursuing the situation with utmost positivity and courage because “if we can save our lives,we will be definitely able to save the economy”.

A couple of months ago, we never could have thought that the global economy and subsequently the world would have come to a pause and we would be sitting at home, not going to to fancy restaurants on weekends or traveling out for work or leisure. Tourism has come to a halt with India under lockdown, the imposition of section 144. There are barely any bookings made for the future , there is limited scope for quick revival but slow and steady growth instead, not just for hospitality industry but most of the sectors I would say. However it is also believed about 70 per cent of total 5.5 crore workforces could get unemployed which is very frightening. The coronavirus will affect all levels of hospitality, but not everyone has the same capacity for recovery. Many hospitality providers will take time to look at their segment and develop a better understanding of their ideal hotel guest; some providers will be faced with greater challenges than others. Also, if I am there in future in hospitality sector, I will make sure that hygiene standards are not compromised and also, it's a responsibility of every individual to take precautions.

With all the pros and cons of this lockdown we have to strive together positively for a better tomorrow while cooperating with the guidelines and measures implements on states. We all are in this together and we shall overcome this and enter in to a new normal without burdening our planet with our excessive needs.

A TRIP TO THE WINTER WONDERLAND AND CHASING THE ELUSIVE NORTHERN LIGHTS

A TRIP TO THE WINTER WONDERLAND AND CHASING THE ELUSIVE NORTHERN LIGHTS

FINLAND

“Traveling in the company of those we love is home in motion”

Despite its obvious beauty and the allure of seeing Northern Lights (Aurora Borealis), we had never given a trip to Finland much thought as a conquerable travel destination. Truth be told, I've never been much of a cold weather fan but Hrishi's persistence, Leena's planning, Mom's enthusiasm and Papa's encouragement - and of course photographs of northern lights and frozen landscapes was so surreal it hardly looked real. On top of that, it contained something unusual - it promised a beautiful journey with my most valuable possession – my family. And that's what this trip turned out to be – an extraordinary, extreme adventure and a challenge which was possible only because we all were together. It was a memory of a lifetime which will be etched in our memories forever.

This is just a glimpse of the best moments spent in Helsinki, Rovaniemi (Santa Clause Village), Ranua, and Ivalo through our 12-day road trip, driving about 1000 kms in the sub-freezing temperatures of the Happiest Country in the World (Finland). The highlight was seeing the elusive Northern Lights at -22 degree Celsius in Ivalo and clicking of the cameras frantically, the adrenaline pumping and Husky Ride in the wilderness where we could no longer feel our toes or feet, seeing the huge white Polar Bear and the Brown bear at the Ranua Zoo, cleansing of our mind and body at the Finnish Saunas at all our stays, Snow bathing in the backyard and behaving crazy, meeting the real-life Santa Claus and feeling like a kid again in the Santa Village at Rovaniemi, crossing the Arctic Circle line, eating local Finnish food, roaming around the historic architectural marvels in Helsinki, and visiting the second oldest city in Finland, Poorvo.

200 ग्राम बादाम, पिसे हुए
200 ग्राम शक्कर, पिसी हुई
73 ग्राम अंडे की सफ़ेदी
फूड कलर आपकी पसंद का

इटैलियन मरैंग के लिए

200 ग्राम शक्कर, दरदरी पिसी
50 ग्राम पानी
73 ग्राम अंडे की सफ़ेदी, कमरे के तापमान पर

विधि

1. सबसे पहले बादाम का मिश्रण बनाएं. उसके लिए पिसे हुए बादाम, पिसी हुई शक्कर को एक बाउल में डालें. उसमें अंडे की सफ़ेदी और फूड कलर भी डालें. सभी सामग्रियों को अच्छे से मिलाएं.
2. इटैलियन मरैंग के लिए शक्कर और पानी को मिलाकर उबालें. उसके बाद 118 डिग्री सेल्सियस पर पकाएं. जब शक्कर की चाशनी 114 डिग्री तापमान पर हो तब अंडे की सफ़ेदी को इलेक्ट्रिक मिक्सर से हाई स्पीड पर फेंटना शुरू करें. जब शक्कर पक जाए तब उसे फेंटे हुए अंडे की सफ़ेदी पर डालें. इस मिश्रण को तब तक फेंटें, जब जब मरैंग ठंडा न हो जाए (तकरीबन 50 डिग्री सेल्सियस).
3. अब मरैंग को बादाम के मिश्रण में थोड़ा-थोड़ा करते हुए सावधानी के साथ मिलाएं. इस दौरान कंसिस्टेंसी का खास ध्यान रखें. जब ठीक से मिल जाए तब इस मिश्रण को 10 मिलीमीटर टिप वाले पेस्ट्री बैग में भरें.
4. पार्चमेंट पेपर लगे बेकिंग शीट पर इस मिश्रण से छोटे-छोटे सर्कल्स बना लें. अगर चाहें तो इसे 10-20 मिनट के लिए ऐसे ही छोड़ दें (यह वैकल्पिक है). उसके बाद 160 डिग्री सेल्सियस पर 12 मिनट के लिए बेक करें. ठंडा होने के बाद मैकरॉन्स को बेकिंग पेपर पर से निकाल लें. अगर कुकीज़ ठीक से पकी होंगी तो बेकिंग पेपर से आसानी से निकल जाएंगी.

दूसरा तरीका

मैकरॉन कुकीज़ (फ्रेंच मरैंग मेथड)

सर्विंग साइज़: 30-40 कुकीज़

सामग्री

180 ग्राम बादाम, पिसे हुए

150 ग्राम अंडे की सफ़ेदी, कमरे के तापमान पर

100 ग्राम शक्कर, दरदरी पिसी

270 ग्राम शक्कर, पिसी हुई

फूड कलर आपकी पसंद का

विधि

1. सबसे पहले बादाम को एक मिक्सिंग बाउल में छान लें. एक साफ़ मिक्सिंग बाउल में अंडे की सफ़ेद रख दें.
2. एक झकोले (विस्क) से अंडे की सफ़ेदी को मीडियम स्पीड पर फेंटना शुरू करें और धीरे-धीरे उसमें दरदरी पिसी शक्कर डालते जाएं. धीरे-धीरे विस्क की स्पीड बढ़ाएं और उसमें धीरे-धीरे पिसी हुई शक्कर मिलाएं. तब तक फेंटें, जब तक अंडे की सफ़ेदी में शक्कर ठीक से मिल न जाए और ग्लॉसी स्टिफ़ मर्रंग न तैयार हो जाए. उसके बाद इसमें फूड कलर डालें और ठीक से मिला लें.
3. अब मर्रंग को पिसे हुए बादाम में मिलाएं और हल्का ब्लेंड करें. ध्यान दें, दोनों मिश्रण ओवर मिक्स न हो जाएं.
4. अब इस मिश्रण को पेस्ट्री बैग में भरें. पार्चमेंट पेपर लगे बेकिंग शीट पर इस मिश्रण से छोटे-छोटे सर्कल्स बना लें. 12 मिनट के लिए 160 डिग्री सेल्सियस पर बेक करें. उसके बाद इसे कूलिंग रैक पर ठंडा होने के लिए छोड़ दें. ठंडा हो जाने के बाद पेपर से निकाल लें. अगर कुकीज़ ठीक से पकी होंगी तो बेकिंग पेपर से आसानी से निकल जाएंगी.

Yoga is an invaluable gift of India's ancient tradition. It embodies unity of mind and body; thought and action; restraint and fulfilment; harmony between man and nature; a holistic approach to health and well-being. It is not about exercise but to discover the sense of oneness within you, the world and the nature. By changing our lifestyle and creating consciousness, it can help in well being. Let us work towards adopting an International Yoga Day.

We at Bharati Vidyapeeth college of hotel and tourism management studies, Navi Mumbai are celebrating International Yoga Day on 21th June 2020 at 8:00 am kindly register and join in.
